Two men in custody over Corio shooting

October 29, 2009 2:55am

TWO men have been charged with murder over the death of a man in a shooting in the Geelong suburb of Corio.

Police went to a house on Cloverdale Drive in Corio about 5.30pm (AEDT) on Saturday after reports that a man had been shot.

Paramedics tried to revive the 26-year-old victim, but he died at the scene.

A short time after the shooting a 30-year-old man went to the Geelong Hospital with what appeared to be two gunshot wounds to his hip.

The 30-year-old Newtown man underwent surgery yesterday.

Police have not confirmed if the two shootings were linked, or if the injured man's wounds were from gunshots.

Two men, Matthew Grotheer of the Geelong suburb of Batesford, 29, and 21-year-old Jayden Bishop of Herne Hill, were arrested late yesterday.

They appeared before a bail justice in an out-of-sessions court hearing at the Geelong police station early yesterday, each charged with one count of murder.

They were remanded in custody to appear in the Geelong Magistrates' Court later the same day.

Both men have been charged with one count of murder and have been remanded to appear before Geelong Magistrates Court today.

Police charge third man over Geelong shooting death

• NOVEMBER 8 2009

Police have charged a third person with the murder of a man shot dead in Geelong in October.

A 26-year-old man was fatally shot at a house in the Geelong suburb of Corio on October 24.

Four days later two Geelong men, Matthew Grotheer, 29, and Jayden Bishop, 21, were arrested and charged with murder.

Homicide Squad detectives have since charged a third man.

David Puglia, 30, from the Geelong suburb of Newtown appeared before an out of sessions hearing today.

He is charged with one count of murder and has been remanded in custody to appear in the Geelong Magistrates Court on Monday.
